

Original Medicare (Fee-For-Service) Appeals Data – 2022

Appeal Rights under Original Medicare

Individuals enrolled in Original Medicare may file an appeal if they believe Medicare should have paid for, or did not pay enough for, an item or service that they received. An individual's appeal rights are on the back of the Medicare Summary Notice (MSN) mailed to Medicare beneficiaries after they receive services. The MSN explains why a bill was not paid and how to file an appeal. The providers and suppliers of services that file claims on behalf of Medicare beneficiaries may also file appeals.

Background on Medicare Contractors

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) contracts with private insurance companies to perform many functions on behalf of the Medicare program, including processing claims for Medicare payment and carrying out the first level of the Medicare claims appeals process. CMS relies on a network of Medicare Administrative Contractors (MACs) to process Medicare claims and to serve as the primary operational contact between the Medicare Fee-For-Service program and health care providers and suppliers enrolled in the program.

Original Medicare Appeals Process

Once a Medicare contractor makes an initial determination about whether a service is covered by Medicare and how much to pay for the claim, Medicare beneficiaries, providers, and suppliers have the right to appeal these determinations. By law, Medicare offers five levels in the Part A and Part B appeals process. The levels, listed in order, are:

- Redetermination by a MAC
 - An individual, provider, or supplier must file an appeal within 120 calendar days of receipt of the initial determination on a claim.
 - The MAC generally issues its decision within 60 calendar days of the date it receives the request for redetermination.
- Reconsideration by a Qualified Independent Contractor (QIC)
 - An individual, provider, or supplier must file an appeal within 180 calendar days of receipt of the redetermination.
 - The QIC generally issues its decision within 60 calendar days of the date it receives the request for reconsideration.

- Hearing by an Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) or review by an attorney adjudicator
 - An individual, provider, or supplier must file an appeal within 60 calendar days after receipt of the QIC's reconsideration. The amount remaining in controversy in the case must be at least $180 for ALJ hearing requests filed in calendar year 2022.
 - The ALJ (or attorney adjudicator, as applicable) generally issues a decision within 90 calendar days of receipt of the request for hearing. If the ALJ or attorney adjudicator does not issue a decision, dismissal, or remand within the applicable adjudication timeframe, the appellant may request to escalate the appeal to the Medicare Appeals Council.
- Review by the Medicare Appeals Council within the Departmental Appeals Board
 - An individual, provider, or supplier must file an appeal within 60 calendar days after receipt of the ALJ's or attorney adjudicator's decision.
 - The Medicare Appeals Council generally issues a decision within 90 calendar days of receipt of the request for review. If the Medicare Appeals Council does not issue a decision, dismissal, or remand within the applicable adjudication timeframe, the appellant may request to escalate the appeal to Federal district court.
- Judicial Review in U.S. District Court
 - An individual must file for judicial review within 60 calendar days after receipt of the Medicare Appeals Council's decision. The amount remaining in controversy in the case must be at least $1,760 to file an appeal in Federal District Court in calendar year 2022.

*In limited situations, a provider or supplier can also file a request for judicial review.

Specialty Contractor Reconsideration Dispositions for 2022

As part of the overall reconsideration workload, the results of several other Medicare payment audit activities impact the volume of claims in the appeals process. The Recovery Audit Contractors (RACs) that pursue Medicare overpayments for items or services that were incorrectly paid and the Unified Program Integrity Contractors (UPICs) that pursue overpayments related to alleged fraudulent activity are two sub-groups of activities that are specially tracked within the total number of reconsiderations. For more information on these programs, please visit the Recovery Audit Program website at:
